5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

The Cobden Club.

THE annual meeting of the Cobden Club was held in London on the 12th of July, but it seems not to have been a very successful or enthusiastic gathering. The London Times, whose sympathy with the purpose of the club is not to be questioned, sharply criticizes it for inactivity and for the stupidity which characterizes its management. The club has admittedly done very little the past year, but the Times says it has not been for lack of opportunity. The staple of the chairman's address and the Committee's report at the meeting was a laudation of Free-Trade, but this performance pleases the Times almost as little as the lack of performance in other matters. It tells the club that its manifesto on Free-Trade is sadly wanting in the argumentative force needed to confirm waverers or to convert enemies, and that an examination of the disadvantages existing in other countries, which the report enumerates and ascribes to Protection, discloses, in many instances, no sign of connection between the effect and alleged cause. The Times proceeds:

"The hope of the chairman is that young men may be found willing to join the club and serve under the banner of Richard Cobden, and maintain the political and economical principles with which his name is associated. We fear, if Richard Cobden had had no more cogent arguments at command than those which his banner men are using and are putting forward under his name, the economical principles with which his name is associated would have owed but little to his advocacy. Their report this year gives distinct proof of a falling off from what they once were. It is a slovenly and random piece of work almost all through, crowded with matter which proves nothing to the point and with statistics which are accessible to everybody, and which the report does not so handle as to make them in any sense its own. Free-Trade, we are told, has numerous enemies in this country. Just now, with the Cobden Club as its champion, it is in chief danger from its friends."

This says the Boston Journal is a severe criticism. It does not appear that there has been any recent change in the management of the club. It is to be presumed that the unhappy chairman of the committee made the best statement of the case for Free-Trade that he could. May it not be that the reason that he did no better was that no better could be done?

WHILE British offices and newspapers are lamenting the weak- nesses in the fleet discovered during the recent naval maneuvers, the Germans are congratulating themselves upon the good showing made by their comparatively small navy in its evolutions yesterday. It must be remembered that the German affair was on a much smaller scale than the British and occupied much less time and also, that criticism is more free in England than in Germany, but it is probably a fact that the German Navy contains less "dead wood" than any other in Europe.

Safety from a pestiferous scourge.
Protection from the disease, not a medicinal agent which merely checks the paroxysms, is the grand desideratum wherever the endemic scourge of malaria prevails. Quinine does not afford this protection. The chief reason why Host's Stomach Bitters has won such immense popularity is, that it prepares the system to resist the malarial pest. This is done by bracing and toning the physical organism; regulating and promoting an equal flow and distribution of the animal fluids; and establishing digestion on a sound basis. But only is fever and ague prevented, but the worst types of the disease are conquered by its aid. It is the only remedy to be drawn from the ore of nature, and is in its favor. It is equally efficacious in dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, general debility, and all malarial complaints, and is a reliable, lively and safe.

FANTASTIC PROOF-READING.

Ridiculous Typographical Errors Collected by a Wide-Awake Printer.

I will put on record some few of the many typographical errors and blunders which have come under my eye, says a writer in the Artist Printer.

To begin I will cite that of a compositor who, in a furniture advertisement, where cradles and coffins were spoken of conjointly, said they were "the apples and oranges (alpha and omega) of human life."

In Jim Fisk's palmiest days the editor of a paper on which I was employed wrote an article descriptive of a "turn-out" (horses and carriage) with which Fisk was just then paralyzing New York. The learned blacksmith who set it up read the words "turn-out" "tom-cat," and so had it all through the article.

A clipper on the Atlanta Constitution once wrote this: "The Texas Pacific is now running out thirty miles from Texas." The proof sheet read: "The Texas Pacific is now shipping wintry miles from Texas races."

About the time the above was gotten off, another compositor on the same paper, in setting a take of telegraph about the Russo-Turkish war, gravely announced that the "Russians had captured the Topeka Post" (for Schlipka Pass).

After the death of the Emperor Napoleon the telegraph, in describing his appearance as he lay in his coffin, said that "his features are placed but care-worn." The type read the two last words "can work," and so set it. The same artist on the same day spoke of the "attitude of the Brazilian goat toward the Antilles."

I have seen the abbreviation gov't translated "goat" innumerable times, but only once have I seen it reversed and "goat" rendered "government," this by a man who was always looking out to avoid the first-named "bull," he setting up a description of an "Angora government."

On the day that R. E. Lee died a Richmond dispatch said that "General gloom prevails." The proof had it this way: "Gen. Gloom," etc.

After Horace Greeley's death the Presidential electors of Georgia, when they went to cast their votes, having no candidates to give them to, cast them in a complimentary way for different persons. The editor of the paper I was working on, in speaking of the matter, said they "scattered their votes like a coquette her smiles." Imagine his horror when this confronted him: "Scattered their votes like a cognat for miles."

Several years ago, while a noted Southern author, now dead, was on a tour in Europe, in one of his letters he wrote that, after visiting a certain locality, on the next day he would go to Charing Cross. The types had it "chasing crows."

During the Eastern complications, ten or twelve years ago, a certain Mahmood Jan figured rather prominently. One night a compositor got a take of telegraph of which that name was the first word. He glanced at it, and with an imprecation on the "d"—a fool operator who don't know what month it is, he proceeded to erect it thus: "Mahmood Jan December 5," making a date-line of it.

One of the finest breaks I ever saw was made by a proof-reader. He came across the line—

"Aye, springes to catch woodcock."

He was not up on Hamlet, and never having seen the word "springes," of course knew there was no such. So he changed the p to a y, making it "springes." The man who set the take was an amateur actor and perfectly familiar with the line, but the most he could effect with proof-reading was a compromise; the p was let stand but the e had to come out, and so it went "springes."

I will close this, not for want of material so much as for fear of encroaching too much on your space, by recounting the feat of a printer who, in an article describing a mendicant, said he wore a "threadbone coat," and had on his face a "necktie flush."

THE WATER OUSEL.

A Queer Bird That Frequents the Trout Streams of Washington.

Away up on the mountain side, where the numerous streams find their way through deep, dark canyons down to the pulse beat of old ocean, is the natural summer home of the water ouzel, the strangest of all strange birds. You seldom see more than one of them at a time, according to the Tacoma Ledger. They are of a dark blue color and are easily recognized by a peculiar quick jerking motion, which they never seem to tire of. And as they flit from rock to rock they are continually bobbing up and down, performing such a polite little courtesy as would cause you to smile to see it.

Owing to their peculiar habits and the isolated spots they select to build their nests, no one but the most ardent sportsmen and naturalists succeed in finding them. Hence a water ouzel's nest with two of their eggs in it has a commercial value among nest collectors of twenty-five dollars. They always build their nests just back of some waterfall or under some overhanging bank, where they have to go through or under the water to get to it.

Another strange habit of this bird is the deliberate manner in which they appear to commit suicide. They will start slowly, very slowly, to wade right down into the water until they disappear from view, but if the water is clear and you have a sharp eye you can still see their little dark forms clinging to the bottom in search of their morning repast, which consists of waterwinkles.

Feasting in India.

The Bengal police have published the following extraordinary warning to passengers at all the stations on the Eastern Bengal railway: "Passengers are hereby cautioned against taking any thing to eat or drink from unknown persons, as there are many who live by poisoning travelers. They first of all court acquaintance with passengers in a salar or some other place, and then gain their confidence on the plea of being fellow-travelers going to the same place. When they reach a place convenient for the purpose, they poison the water or food of the passengers, who become indisposed, and then they decamp with all their property. They also at times poison the passengers' water, when being drawn out of wells, or sweetmeats brought from the bazaar, or food when being cooked."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Weak Women

Owe to themselves a duty to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, in view of the great relief it has given those who suffer from ailments peculiar to the sex. By purifying the blood, regulating important organs, strengthening the nerves, and toning the whole system, it restores the debilitated to health.

After 15 Years.

"For 15 years my mother has been troubled with milk leg. She went to different parts of California, as persons said the climate might help her, but it was of no avail, and I, being a druggist, thought I would get her to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she had taken half a bottle she said she was improving, so she continued until she took half a dozen bottles, and now she is perfectly well. For nearly fifteen years she was unable to walk around, but now she can walk as well as ever." T. F. BLAKE, San Francisco, with C. F. Richards & Co., Wholesale Druggists.

Like a New Creature.

"I have been for years trying to get help for that terrible general debility and weakness so common to women. Within a year I have taken ten or twelve bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I am now feeling like a new creature." Mrs. F. B. Ross, Marlin, Texas.

Bar of Equalization.

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK,
Washoe County, Nevada,
Reno, Sept. 8, 1890.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE County Assessor of Washoe County, Nevada, has completed the list of assessments for A. D. 1890 and has duly attached his certificate thereof to the list of assessments, and all original lists of property given to him, to the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, that the Board of County Commissioners will meet on Monday, September 15, 1890,

As a Board of Equalization, and will hear and determine all complaints made in regard to the assessed value of any property within said county, and will change and correct any valuation, either by adding thereto or deducting therefrom, if they deem the same fixed in the assessment, oil either above or below the true value, whether said sum was fixed by the assessor or required by law. In such cases no reduction will be made by the Board of Equalization in the assessment made by the Assessor.

The assessment roll will be kept open for public inspection at the County Clerk's office until after adjournment of the Board of Equalization. The Board of Equalization will continue in session from time to time until the business of Equalization is disposed of, but said Board will not sit after the first Monday in October, 1890; except that the Board of Equalization will meet to qualify the assessment roll and in complaints in exceptional cases mentioned in the revenue law, section 1891, General Statutes of Nevada. J. F. Aiken's team are kept busy supplying his patrons with the best limo, split or slab wood, also the best hard coal.

E. C. Leadbetter's long experience as a grocer enables him to know just what his patrons want; goods promptly delivered.

Finest selection of literary works, especially all the leading monthly and quarterly magazines at C. A. Thurston's news depot.

People who have recently visited large cities agree that Richard Herz's stock of watches and jewelry is as fine as can be seen anywhere.

The Arcade Hotel and Restaurant is where you want to go for good accommodations as are to be had on the line of the Central Pacific.

No regular passenger train is ever missed by that easy-riding Interlunar Hotel bus, which carries all patrons and their baggage free of charge.

C. J. Brookins is just in receipt of another large invoice of all kinds of text books in use in all the schools in this vicinity, also all kinds of school supplies.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasant to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in action on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeenport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in James' own, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children taken with it, of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them, and was tried in several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Shoemaker & Co.

Summer Complaint.—A druggist at Britt, Hancock County, Iowa, relates his experience with this disease as follows: During the summer of 1882, my little girl, two years of age, was taken seriously ill with summer complaint, so common to children of that age, and after being treated by a physician and getting no better, I took from my shelves a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She felt relieved after the first dose, and in three days was entirely well.—A. L. Moen. For sale by Shoemaker & Co.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step to Nervous Prostration. You need a nerve tonic, and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great nerve tonic and alternative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored and the liver and kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c, at Wm. Fininger's Drug Store.

"Struck the Golden Mean" as a Blood Purifier.

The Detroit Free Press says: "Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, prepared by the Charles Wright Medicine Company, of this city, has struck the Golden Mean in the treatment of all blood diseases, and its success is an evidence that an honest, pure and valuable medicine is not impossible of attaining the attention of every family. There seems to be but one opinion as to its merit as a family medicine."

This is the real secret of the success of this wonderful remedy. It is a perfect and speedy action, in removing all impure and poisonous matter from blood. No home should be without it, as a thorough and effective blood purifier for young and old. For sale by all druggists.

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it, you should be afflicted with a cough, cold, or any throat, lung or chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial bottle free at Wm. Fininger's drug store.

Spring Fever.

At this season of the year the most vigorous and healthy people often have a feeling of weariness, tired and worn out, without ambition to do anything, and many break out in pimples and sores. What you require is a mild tonic, one that will act gently on the liver and blood, and for this nothing equals Dr. Cass's Improved Liver Pills. They give an activity to the liver, purify the blood, and by their mild tonic action, give vitality and strength to the entire system. Sold at 50 cents a box by J. J. Hedges.

PRIMARY ELECTION

Of the People on Saturday, Aug. 16, 1896.

For the purpose of electing delegates to the said State Convention, the Primary Elections to be held on the 16th day of August, 1896, shall be held in compliance with the laws of the State and the instructions of the State Committee.

The following test will be required of each and every voter at the said Primary election:

"I am a citizen of this State and will support the nominees of the Republican party."

The following Resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this committee re-affirm the State and National Republican platform for 1896, including the declaration that the R-republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money; and that it "condemns all efforts to demonize silver."

Resolved, That the persistent neglect of a currency window to increase the currency of silver to the maximum of four million dollars per month, coupled with his attempt to influence Congressional legislation so as to perpetuate silver demonization, is a flagrant violation of the silver plank of the National Republican platform, an attack on the rights and interests of the miners, farmers and workers of the land, and an act of party perfidy that should call for his retirement from the councils of an administration which is pledged to help and not hinder the demonization of silver.

Resolved, That the Republican party is in favor of free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver; that it holds to this principle as a test of party faith and a test of party allegiance; that it will permit of no abandonment or modification of this doctrine; that let whoever will prove recant to the principle of bimetallicism it will remain steadfast thereon, and that it invites all voters in Nevada who favor the repeal of the iniquitous interference law of 1873 by which silver was demonized, and who desire the establishment of free and unlimited coinage as the law of the United States of America, to join in electing delegates to a Republican State Convention.

R. D. BOYLE, Chairman.
C. F. LORD, Secretary.

A DRUMMER'S TRIALS.

He Gets Into Trouble by Carrying Brass Bells. The trial of a drummer, writes the victim of this tale in the Detroit Free Press. Two months ago, while on a Western trip, I got a bank draft for $100 cashed in a Kansas City bank. The cashier gave me twenty brand new $5 bills. They had not even been folded, and as I slipped them in my pocket I thought that now as they were they would not wear me any better than second-hand ones.

That night, Saturday, I got to Omaha and went straight to the hotel and bed. Next morning I put on my best Sunday clothes, brushed up my hair and had a shave. Then with a cigar and the gold-headed cane the firm presented me with as a memento of the Johnstown flood, which disaster nearly closed my trip, I walked out. I felt that my general make-up was just too much for the Omaha audience and expected to be observed once or twice. In Omaha and many other Western cities some of the stores keep open Sunday. I noticed a pair of slippers marked $3, in the window of a shoe store, and as they took my fancy I walked in and told the proprietor that if they fit me I would take them. I tried them on and they were a good fit, so he told them tied up and tendered one of my new fives in payment. The proprietor took the bill, looked it over back and front, sized me up from head to foot, not missing the gold-headed cane in one hand and roll of new bills in the other. Then he handed back the bill with a freezing smile and said: "Young man, you can't play that on me."

"What's the matter?"

"I am too old a bird to be caught by a slick chap like you. Do you think I have just started in business?"

"I don't know how long you have been in business, but I would like to know what you are driving at."

"Young man, that bill is a counterfeit and you are loaded with them."

He then told me that I was a bad and dangerous man; that he would advise me to get out of his shop before he called the police, and that there had been a good many complaints about me lately. I tried to show him that the bill and I were both all right, but failed, so he let him in disgust. As I passed out I saw him go back and put on his coat and hat, but thought nothing of it. After a short walk I returned to the hotel and had just put my foot on the first step when a policeman put his hand on my arm and remarked that he wanted me. In reply to my question he said he had reliable evidence that I was a "bad one," and was loaded with counterfeit money. By this time a crowd had gathered, and up the street came the patrol with its gong clanging and additions to the already large crowd. Just as I was being hustled into the house the landlord stopped and told the policeman that I was all right and he was making a big mistake. But the policeman said he had good evidence from respectable parties, and he guessed there was no mistake. Then a reporter stepped up and asked if he could do anything for me, stating that he was a reporter and would see I had fair play, as the landlord had assured him I was all right. I asked him to take a ride with me, and we all got in and drove to police headquarters. When we got there the officer in charge told me I was charged with passing bogus bills. I denied the charge and produced my money and handed a bill to him and one to each of the policemen present, asking them if it was good or bad. Well, they didn't know. The reporter said he did not know much about money, especially new money, but he would like to have a few thousand like the sample. At last I got the officer in charge to send four of the men out to show the bills to city bankers and thus decide the case at once. In less than twenty minutes the four men returned and of course each reported that they had shown their bill to a banker and had been assured that it was perfectly good. That was what I expected. Then the officer was in a great sweat. He wanted to know what he could do to make it right, etc. I told him he could do nothing then, but might later.

I made a quick trip to the shoe store. The proprietor saw me coming and dodged behind the counter. As I approached he begged my pardon, saying he had never seen so much money, and new money at that, in one man's possession and that he was sorry. He said lots I do not remember, but I made a dash behind the counter and in no time had him licked to a standstill. One of the clerks ran for the police, and in a very short time I was back at the station again. They waited a little while, but the shoe man made no charge, so they let me go.

I did not sue any one. The papers treated me handsomely and on Monday I did an enormous trade. But the smallest purchase in Omaha was paid for with a new five, so that I left them all there and went away loaded with change.

Bits of Public School History.

Here are two or three amusing blunders that have just occurred in examinations in Boston public schools: One little girl informed the examiner who had read her history paper of the remarkable fact that in 1620 the pilgrims came to Massachusetts for the purpose of fighting the battle of Bunker Hill. Another said: "In 1620 William Penn explored Pennsylvania with a crew of Quakers."

In another small boy, who had evidently heard that the English people were fond of meats, said that of all the countries he had rather visit England, "because he would like to see the Thames river and the beef eaters."

How to Keep Ice.

There are three or four things that will help to keep the precious nugget of ice from melting away if the house-keeper will but remember them. One is that to keep ice warm is the way to keep it cold. A piece of ice in a pitcher, with a pall over the pitcher and a rug over the pall, will keep all night. A piece of ice in a refrigerator covered with a snug white blanket will cheat the greedy ice-man every day, and snap saucy fingers at the milk that does not dare to get sour or the beefsteak that dares not fall. These things are admirable in their way and should be in every household, but the greatest trick of all in newspapers. With plenty of newspapers above, below and on every side the way a piece of ice will keep is a joke.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Copyright, 1896.

For her matches look of grace and motion, this regal beauty was indebted to perfect health, restored by the use of that invigorating tonic and purgative, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which set in healthy action every function and gave purity and richness to the blood.

Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive discharges, painful menstruation, unnatural suppression, prolapsus, failure of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anæmia, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded.

OUR COLUMN.

These Are the Books

We Are Giving Away.

This book contains 480 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

It is different from all other works ever published. First—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when a person gets sick.

And similar books tell what to do if you know what the disease is. This book tells you HOW TO DETECT THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it.

No other Book Published does this.

Second—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is: "Send for a competent physician at once." But in all ordinary cases, such as can be easily cured, it gives full directions for treatment.

Third—It is not confined to the practice used by any one class of physicians; but it gives, separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different schools of medicine, and in ALL CASES THE PRESCRIPTIONS ARE MADE BY THE MOST EMINENT MEN of their respective modes of practice. This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what medical school they prefer.

No other Book Published does this.
